State Game and Fish Commissioner Tim Birmingham will establish a state fish hatchery at Sequoia Park, five miles southwest of Springfield, within the next few days. When equipped the hatchery will cost probably $25,000. The location is said to be an ideal one for the propagation of fish. Three varieties of fish will be hatched, bass, crappie and perch. The hatchery will be in operation by the middle of the summer. The state already has two hatcheries, one at Forest Park, St. Louis, and the other at Lake Contrary, near St. Joseph.

Notice To Taxpayers.

We all know that our county is in debt.

I recently came into possession of the back tax books and was surprised to find such a delinquent list in our county.

Every property owner is duty bound to pay his part of the taxes. It is a pleasant duty to every reasonable citizen to bear his part of this burden, be it ever so small, in order that the person and property of every citizen may be protected.

With few exceptions this enormous delinquent list is uncollected.

We notice how promptly U. S. Government taxes are paid because people know it MUST be paid. How about the county and state taxes? The county collector has power equal to internal revenue collectors and it is his sworn duty to collect these taxes. Shall I shirk this duty? I shall do my duty although it is an unpleasant one, some of my friends are delinquent. I shall do my sworn duty even should it cost me the highly appreciated friendship of some one. What other course is open to me?

I must have the confidence and help of every tax payer to materially reduce this delinquency. It is unfair to those who pay their taxes.

Every year quite a sum is stricken off the tax books because it is outlawed. Even on real estate. Taxes cannot be collected back over five years. The back tax books are public records and every citizen has a right to examine them. If any tax payer thinks I exaggerated he is welcome to investigate for himself, look at the books and be convinced.

This notice is also intended as a first notice to all delinquents. I will not send many notices before these names are placed into the hands of the tax attorney.

Very respectfully,
WM. P. HUCK,
Collector of the Revenue,
Ste. Genevieve County.

Migratory Bird Treaty Constitutional.

A decision of widespread interest to sportsmen and others affecting the protection of migratory birds was rendered by the United States Supreme Court on April 19, when it sustained the constitutionality of the migratory bird treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the protection of migratory birds and the act of Congress to give it effect. The law is administered by the Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture.

In March, 1919, the State of Missouri filed suit in the United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri against Ray P. Holland, a United States game warden, for the purpose of securing a restraining order prohibiting Federal wardens from enforcing the migratory bird treaty act in that State. The validity of the treaty and the act was upheld in an opinion rendered by Judge Arba S. Valkenburg, of the Western District of Missouri, on July 2, 1919. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States, which has affirmed the opinion of the lower court.

In Memoriam.

In sad but loving memory of our dearly beloved mother, Mary Amelia Carron, who departed this life April 28, 1919.

Dear mother one year has flown since you were called away. How sadful is the memory of that fateful day.

Of all the crocheting work that you have left behind, For each and everyone, Is a deep remembrance of your loving hand.

Through life you lived and taught us To abide by God's great will, This solemn thought, dear mother, Doth our hearts with courage fill. Peace be thine most loving mother, Ever faithful, kind and true. Time may wither the rarest gift, But never our love for you. Farewell dear mother, but not for ever.

There will be a glorious dawn, We shall meet to part, no never, On the resurrection morn. Thy mother's form lies sleeping, In the cold and silent grave, Thou shalt have a glorious waking, When the Blessed Lord doth come. Sadly missed by CHILDREN AND GRAND CHILDREN.

The United States Department of Commerce estimates that the unrecaptured waste material in the country is worth $500,000,000. Any man, woman or child can share in that fortune by collecting and selling whatever old paper, rags, rubber, metals or other odds and ends he has on hand.

Namby: "Have you ever noticed, Pamby, that a frank, honest person invariably has a loud, clear voice?"

Pamby: "What did you say, Namby? I didn't catch it; you don't speak very clearly."

Theresa: "O, Mabel! Have you heard that dreadful rumor that Aggie has been taken to an insane asylum?"

Mabel: "Well I rather thought that last bonnet of hers would do the fatal work."
